"But I'm the Pope. Sit down."

Recently, when he left his apartment at Domus Marta and went out into the hall, Pope Francis found a Swiss Guard standing at attention outside his door. He asked him:

"And what are you doing here? Were you awake all night?"

"Yes," the guard answered respectfully.

"Standing?"

"One of my colleagues gave me a break."

"And you're not tired?"

"It's my duty Your Holiness, for Your safety."

The Pope looked at him with kindness. He went back into his apartment and, after a few minutes, returned with a chair in his hand:

"At least sit down and rest."

Shocked, the Swiss Guard replied,

"Forgive me, but I can't! The rules don't allow it."

"The rules?"

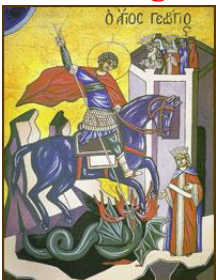

"My captain, Your Holiness."

"Oh, is that so? Well, I'm the Pope and I am asking you to sit down."

So, between the rules and the Pope, the Swiss Guard, complete with his halberd, chose the chair. And then the Pope brought him some bread and jam for a snack, saying, "Buon appetito, brother."

St. George, Horseman Warrior

This icon depicts St. George in his most well known, traditional representation, as the Horseman Warrior, slaying the dragon and freeing the princess from her danger and impending death. This depiction first becomes popular in the later Middle Ages, when these details of the act of St. George were given greater prominence and wider circulation. The maiden was understood to represent the Church and the dragon signified the heresies and persecutions that threatened and undermined the Church and the Christian faith. The whole picture was a symbol of spiritual warfare and the conquering of good over evil, of Christ over Satan, of eternal life and salvation over death and sin.

In this form, the popularity of St. George spread over East and West. As early as the sixteenth century, St. George was named as a good man, "whose deeds are known only to God." St. George became the patron saint of England, he is also the patron saint of soldiers, and of the Boy Scouts, as well as the titular saint of countless churches throughout the world.

This icon of St. George, Horseman Warrior, shows him in the most popular pictorial scene, where he is slaying the dragon. We see the princess being saved, while her parents watch from the tower of their palace, their hands raised in prayers for George's spiritual power, conferred upon him by his faith.

Year of Faith: Who is God?

The Baltimore Catechism

Lesson 2: God and His Perfections

Reflection: "I believe in God, the Father Almighty, Creator of heaven and earth ..."

8. What do we mean when we say that God is the Supreme Being?

When we say that God is the Supreme Being we mean that He is above all creatures, the self-existing and infinitely perfect Spirit..

I am the First, and I am the Last, and besides me there is no God. (Isaiah 44:6)

9. What is a spirit?

A spirit is a being that has understanding and free will, but no body, and will never die..

To whom then have you likened God? Or what image will you make for Him? (Isaiah 40:18)

10. What do we mean when we say that God is self-existing?

When we say that God is self-existing we mean that He does not owe His existence to any other being.

I am who am. (Exodus 3:14)

11. What do we mean when we say that God is infinitely perfect?

When we say that God is infinitely perfect we mean that He has all perfections without limit.

Great is the Lord, and greatly to be praised; and of his greatness there is no end. (Psalm 144:3)

12. What are some of the perfections of God?

Some of the perfections of God are: God is eternal, all-good, all-knowing, all-present, and almighty.

13. What do we mean when we say that God is eternal?

When we say that God is eternal we mean that He always was and always will be, and always remains the same. "

I am the Alpha and the Omega, the beginning and the end," says the Lord God. (Apocalypse 1:8)

14. What do we mean when we say that God is all-good?

When we say that God is all-good we mean that He is infinitely lovable in Himself, and that from His fatherly love every good comes to us.

For the word of the Lord is right; and all his works are done with faithfulness. He loveth mercy and judgment: the earth is full of the mercy of the Lord. (Psalm 32:4-5)

15. What do we mean when we say that God is all-knowing?

When we say that God is all-knowing we mean that He knows all things, past, present, and future, even our most secret thoughts, words, and actions.

Behold, O Lord, thou hast known all things, the last and those of old: thou hast formed me, and hast laid thy hand upon me. Thy knowledge is become wonderful to me: it is high, and I cannot reach it. (Psalm 138:5-6)

Pope: Our small daily encounters with Christ

(Vatican Radio) Faith is a gift that begins in our encounter with Jesus, a real, tangible person and not an intangible essence, 'mist' or 'spray'. Our real encounter with the Father, Son and Holy Spirit was the focus of Pope Francis Thursday morning celebrated with the Italian State Police who serve the Vatican area.

The Pope drew inspiration for his homily from the Gospel of John in which Jesus tells the crowd that "he who believes has eternal life". He says the passage is an opportunity for us to examine our conscience. He noted that very often people say they generally believe in God. "But who is this God you believe in?" asked Pope Francis confronting the evanescence of certain beliefs with the reality of a true faith:

"An 'all over the place - god, a 'god-spray' so to speak, who is a little bit everywhere but who no-one really knows anything about. We believe in God who is Father, who is Son, who is Holy Spirit. We believe in Persons, and when we talk to God we talk to Persons: or I speak with the Father, or I speak with the Son, or I speak with the Holy Spirit. And this is the faith. "

In the Gospel passage, Jesus also says that no one can come to him "unless drawn by the Father who sent me." Pope Francis said that these words show that "to go to Jesus, to find Jesus, to know Jesus, is a gift" that God bestows on us.

The Pope said we see an example of this in the first reading from the Acts of the Apostles, where Christ sends Philip to explain the Old Testament in the light of the Resurrection to an officer of the court of the Queen of Egypt. That officer - observed Pope Francis - was not a "common man" but a royal treasurer and because of this, "we may think he was a bit attached to the money", "a careerist." Yet, said the Pope, when this individual listens to Philip speak to him of Jesus "he hears that it is good news", "he feels joy," to the point of being baptized in the first place they find water:

"Those who have faith have eternal life, they have life. But faith is a gift, it is the Father who gifts it. We must continue on this path. But if we travel this path, it is always with our own baggage - because we are all sinners and we all always have things that are wrong. But the Lord will forgive us if we ask for forgiveness, and so we should always press onwards, without being discouraged - but on that path what happened to the royal treasurer will happen to us too".

Pope Francis, what is described in the Acts of the Apostles, after the officer discovers the faith we also happen to us: "And he went on his way rejoicing":

"It is the joy of faith, the joy of having encountered Jesus, the joy that only Jesus gives us, the joy that gives peace: not what the world gives, but what gives Jesus. This is our faith. We ask the Lord to help us grow in this faith, this faith that makes us strong, that makes us joyful, this faith that always begins with our encounter with Jesus and always continues throughout our lives in our small daily encounters with Jesus."

Saint of the Week: ST SIMON, THE ZEALOT, APOSTLE

St Simon is surnamed the Canaanite, and the Zealot, to distinguish him from St. Peter, and from St. Simeon, the brother of St. James the Less, and his successor in the see of Jerusalem. From the first of these surnames some have thought that St. Simon was born at Cana, in Galilee: certain modern Greeks pretend that it was at his marriage that our Lord turned the water into wine. It is not to be doubted but he was a Galilean. Theodoret says, of the tribe either of Zabulon or Nephthali. Hammond and Grotius think that St. Simon was called the Zealot, before his coming to Christ, because he was one of that particular sect or party among the Jews called Zealots, from a singular zeal they possessed for the honour of God and the purity of religion. A party called Zealots were famous in the war of the Jews against the Romans. But no proof is offered by which it is made to appear that any such party existed in our Saviour's time, though some then maintained that it was not lawful for a Jew to pay taxes to the Romans. At least if any then took the name Zealots, they certainly neither followed the impious conduct nor adopted the false and inhuman maxims of those mentioned by Josephus in his history of the Jewish war against the Romans.

St. Simon, after his conversion, was zealous for the honour of his Master, and exact in all the duties of the Christian religion; and showed a pious indignation toward those who professed this holy faith with their mouths, but dishonoured it by the irregularity of their lives. No further mention appears of him in the gospels than that he was adopted by Christ into the college of the apostles. With the rest he received the miraculous gifts of the Holy Ghost, which he afterwards exercised with great zeal and fidelity. If this apostle preached in Egypt, Cyrene, and Mauritania, he returned into the East; for the Martyrologies of St. Jerome, Bede, Ado, and Usuard place his martyrdom in Persia, at a city called Suanir, possibly in the country of the Suani, a people in Colchis, or a little higher in Sarmatia, then allied with the Parthians in Persia; which may agree with a passage in the Acts of St. Andrew, that in the Cimmerian Bosphorus there was a tomb in a "rot, with an inscription importing that Simon the Zealot was interred there. His death is said in these Martyrologies to have been procured by the idolatrous priests. Those who mention the manner of his death say he was crucified. St. Peter's Church on the Vatican at Rome and the Cathedral of Toulouse are said to possess the chief portions of the relics of SS. Simon and Jude.

Dedication – Ad Book letter to Parishioners and Friends

Dear Fellow Parishioners and Friends,

On May 18, 2013, Bishop Gregory Mansour will dedicate our new church in Watervliet, NY. The dedication committee is assembling a book to commemorate this occasion. The book will contain a history of St Ann's 100+ years in the Capital District.

As a parishioner and/or friend of St. Ann, you are invited to place a congratulatory ad and/or message in the book. The ad and/or message can include a picture or pictures, can be placed as memorials/tributes of a loved one or simply an important message to family or friends who have played such an important part of your life. The book chronicles our history; it is a snapshot in time that will be kept and handed down for future generations.

If you wish to place a message, please complete, and send the enclosed form along with your payment to the address listed in the form's instructions.

Your tax deductible contribution will be used to continue the church renovations and ensure that St. Ann remains a vibrant Catholic Maronite Church in the Capital District for another 100+ years.

Feel free to contact us if you have any questions at our email address dedicationofsaintann@gmail.com and/or by phone Carol Shufelt 518-590-8584 or Nancy Nicholas Baker 518-225-9199 Ad Committee.

Golf Tournament – Letter to Parishioners

Dear Parishioners,

As you may already be aware, the next Big Fund Raiser for our church is a Golf Outing planned by the men's society for September.

The Golf Committee has been very busy getting sponsors and golfers signed up, and it is now your turn to get involved and help to make this a very successful event. Hopefully it will be so successful that we will be able to do one every year.

Whatever your skills or talents, please consider helping with this major event. By having these Fund Raisers, and involving the community around us, we are accomplishing two things:

1. We are easing the burden of the Church expenses which falls on all of our Parishioners
2. We are making the Community around us aware of whom and what we are, and hopefully expanding our influence in the Capital District.

As with any project or event that is done in our church or in any organization, the more volunteers and helpers there are, the easier the job. You may not be a golfer, but there are certainly many ways that your cooperation will be appreciated.

We all have friends who may want to golf, or be sponsors, or maybe just come to the dinner and be part of the effort. A simple phone call to your friends and family members may be the most helpful way to be involved. Maybe the company you work for would like to help by being a sponsor, at any level, or they may contribute a prize for the event. It only takes a simple request on your part.

This is the time of year when companies have many requests for these types of donations, so we need to try to get our requests in soon.

Thank you in advance for all that you have done on a daily basis to help St Ann make an impression on our community, and therefore bringing the Word of God to all around us.

Should you have ANY questions, please contact me, or any of the Council members or Father Georges BOUCHAAYA, M.L.M. Let's make this new adventure an exciting and successful effort for which we can all be proud.

Al Nahal (518) 894-6011 / President, Saint Maron Men's Society & Chairman, St Ann Golf Committee

Eternal rest grant unto them, O Lord and may perpetual light shine upon them. May they rest in peace. Amen
